

Maven Technologies Inc. is an expert firm that provides information technology consulting information to small and medium sized companies since 2005. Since its founding, Maven Technologies Inc. is constantly evolving in order to offer its clients quality services as well as technological expertise.

Each company has different needs. It is for this reason that Maven Technologies can offer tailor made solutions to each of its clients. These custom solutions will provide your company with stability, security and simplicity, which will in turn favor the extensibility of your computer architecture for the future.

In order to maintain a high level of expertise, Maven Technologies has established strategic alliances with important manufacturers such as Cisco, Dell, Microsoft and VMWare. Your company will benefit from a virtual lab environment where the recreation of client network architectures will allow for the required system tests to be performed before deployment of the custom solution. With this in mind, Maven Technologies is capable of assuring a smooth migration process in order to minimize the risk of system conflict and failure.

The « Analyze, Design and Implementation (ADI) » formula developed by Maven Technologies will provide you access to professional services and will simplify technological based deployment. This will minimize the effects imposed on your current financial business situation from external threats. Furthermore, it will directly reduce the total financial cost of and will maximize your companies overall return value.

Contact one of our computer architects today !

Montreal and South Shore: (514) 952-9461
Laval and North Shore: (514) 293-8874

www.maventech.net
info@maventech.net

Registered
Partner

vmware® | professional
PARTNER

Professional Services

- Database design & maintenance
- Server consolidation
- Database data consolidation
- Network deployment and redeployment
- Laptop configuration and deployment
- IT inventory and management
- Computer environment management and administration
- Workstation and peripheral installation
- Server and server based equipment installation
- Workstation and Server software distribution
- Software deployment and migration
- Corporate web portal configuration
- Software and hardware acquisition program
- Maintenance and technical support program
- Computer equipment repair
- Data backup and restoration solutions
- Secure computer infrastructure design
- Standardization and normalization of systems and procedures
- Email system configuration and network fax setup
- Virtual system development

.NET Web Development Services

- Web application and service development (XML – SOAP)
- Transactional ECommerce websites
- Electronic web forms
- Website redesign and modernization
- Security, certificate and protocol management
- XML Solutions

The majority of Maven Technologies Inc. services are offered through information management, as well as external consulting. Maven Technologies is a firm that is constantly looking for expansion opportunities. If your company is seeking a service that is not mentioned in the list above, don't hesitate to contact one of our computer architects who will be pleased to assist you.